The star-rono men are now falling stars.

We are confident that the tobacco strike will end in smoke.—Forlard.

Chili is very cold-hearted toward Peru. There may be something in a name, after all.

Venor predicts an open winter. Almost any kind of a winter would be an open one as compared with the last.

Military and honorary titles are becoming so plenty that papers which pay much attention to "personals" will be obliged to enlarge.

A discussion will now arise as to whether the balloon sensation was not an advertising scheme. This discussion will give it all the more free advertisement.

Ex-State's Attorney Reed, of Chicago, says Guiteau borrowed $25 from him. Guiteau corrects him by saying it was $35. That settles it. Guiteau must be crazy.

It is stated that the Marquis of Lorne will return to Canada next January. In even that short time he may be able to get quite well acquainted with the Princess Louise.

Now that the balloonists have survived to tell where they have been, some of those who have declared they saw the big air-ship in different parts of the country, will look sheepish enough.

Making cabinet slates is having almost as much of a rage as the 13-15-14 puzzle, and is far more unsatisfactory. Meantime President Arthur wisely keeps his own counsel, and kindly allows the game to go on.

The girls who attack because the foreman in an eastern tobacco factory would not let them laugh and carry on while supposed to be at work, are now amusing themselves by playing tag in the street in front of the factory. Perhaps they will get enough fun so that they will be willing to settle down to business after a while.

As a retaliation upon Franco for the war being made on American pork it is suggested that the United States should start a fight against the importation of adulterated French wine, much of which is said to be nothing but highly spiced decoction of logwood. The only trouble is that much of the so-called French wine never rode the high seas at all.

Tyner's old report, which has been unearthed, shows some startling figures concerning the star routes. On three of these routes the total contract price was $14,264, but by changing contracts so as to make mails more frequent and more speedy, the cost for these three routes has been increased to $105,797. The importance of the postoffice along these routes may be judged by the fact that the total pay of the postmasters is $2,313. It will take several figures to explain the liberal sized margin between such figures.

The Democrats in Wisconsin are keeping suspiciously quiet. It is evident that they are clinging to the forlorn hope that the Republicans may fancy the victory so secure that they will take it easy, and may not deem it necessary to go to the polls. Then by the aid of what cheaters they can pull off by using the Prohibitionists they may gain something of a feat. It being an "off" year encourages them in holding to this hope, which though too slim a hope to hold together, is the only hope they have. Loyal Republicans should take special pains this year to crush the hope by as rousing a majority as possible.

Guiteau in outlining the points in his case raises the question of jurisdiction, demands that the court should appoint counsel to assist his brother-in-law, and should provide means to defray the expenses of getting witnesses, claims that he is insane, intimates that there was malpractice on the part of the doctors—in fact names exactly the same points as are raised by his counsel Saville. Their minds seem to run in the same channel. If one is crazy, what about the other?

There threatens to be some dissatisfaction about "paying the fiddler" now that the fun is all over at Yorktown. The original appropriation was not gained on the stoutest promises of the managers that the expenses should not exceed it, but now it is found that more money is needed to settle all the bills. The query will be raised, by what authority did the management run the government in debt? It is hard indeed to pay for fun that is past, and always gives rise to grumbling.

Foller must be getting scarce in Vermont. If cost one farmer there, $225 to give his cow one end. The end consisted of his pocket-book containing that amount in paper money. How she got hold of the pocket-book is not known, except that she got hold of it with her teeth, but it is probable that the farm was so small that he had to keep the cow and the pocket-book in the same field, and the cow feeling crowded made away with it. The farmer wants the United States to reimburse him for his loss, but as he cannot produce any remnants of the feast as evidence he cannot recover.

Dr. Thomas seems to have been unfortunate in his speech before the Irish-American mass-meeting in Chicago. He gave the Methodists two or three slugs which hurt between the ribs, he offended the Irish by paying a tribute to Queen Victoria, and stepped on the Englishmen's toes by saying that Gladstone, Bright and Chamberlain were quarreling among themselves. The good humor and happy wit of his speech alone saved him from more frequent hisses. Dr. Thomas generally, has rare good judgment, but it is evident that he is not experienced in mass-meetings. He has yet to learn that in such a meeting the only safe way is to throw aside reason, talk a great deal and not say anything.

Secretary Kirkwood has been long enough in the Interior department to be so struck with the fact that the Government is fast paring the Indians. He says many of the tribes do nothing except play, loaf, eat the rations issued to them, and wear out the blankets and leggings furnished them also by the government. While men would fast become lazy and good for nothing under such treatment. Under the present way of treating the Indians a red skin has every advantage over a pale face. The white man who does not work, whether he gets it or not, is punished as a vagrant or a tramp, but the red skin is not only allowed immunity from labor, but is provided for so that he will not suffer the natural punishment of hunger and cold.

The Land League evidently made a grave mistake, when in its indignation at the arrest of its leaders, it declared its intention of paying no rent until their release. The members of the League will not all endorse this manifesto of defiance. Some tenants have been granted liberal concessions and have accepted them, rather than risk home and even life for the sake of standing by the League. Then, too, Archbishop Croke, who has been an unfriendly friend of the League, protests against the "no rent" policy, as both inexpedient and wrong in itself, and leading to danger and defeat. The bold policy thus divides the League and weakens it. It further gives seeming justification to the English government in declaring the League a criminal and unlawful organization and treating it as such, and harsh measures will not seem so inexcusable.

The other evening while Rev. Mr. Eaton was giving a Prohibition speech at Evansville, he was somewhat disturbed by an Irishman in the gallery, who was evidently in the spirit and the spirit in him. During the progress of the speech the Irishman rose gradually from his seat until he was standing at full height. His face was beaming brighter and brighter, and after several half-smothered ejaculations of delight, he at last broke forth in a hearty "haw-haw." An officer present, seeing his condition, led him out of the gallery, and on the way down the stairs chided him gently for his hilarity. "And shure was my countenance made open?" He was assured that it was, and rather annoyingly open. "Well, it is!" I couldn't help it, so I couldn't! It was enough to make a mule haw-haw, and so I laughed a bit. The fact was, sirrah, that it was the first time in my hall life that I ever heard a Methodist and a temperance man at that, speak a kind sort of a word for the Democrats. What sort of an election is this country coming to anyhow?" That is what is puzzling other folk besides this honest Irishman. It is stranger yet to see the Democrats in this campaign dealing out sweet meats to the Methodists and temperance folk.

YORKTOWN.

Some Historical Facts Regarding that Famous, but Dilapidated Town—Notes on the Centennial Celebration.

(Editorial Correspondence.)

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 19, 1881.—The town with the biggest reputation in the United States, and one of the smallest in population, is Yorktown. Before the revolutionary war it had all the commerce of Virginia, and at one time was the greatest tobacco port in this country. In 1781 it had something like a thousand inhabitants and nearly one hundred buildings. The census of 1880 shows that it had 250 inhabitants—87 whites, 163 colored, and 18 buildings. There are several of the buildings now standing which were built prior to the revolution. Among them is the noted Nelson house, a two-story brick, in which Cornwallis had his headquarters. It is much bleakened by the pelting storms and hot suns of more than a hundred years, but it has by no means gone into decay. Governor Thomas Nelson built it just before the revolution began, and when Cornwallis occupied it General Nelson was at the head of a division in the American army before Yorktown, and it is said he offered the gunners of the French fleet in York river five guineas, or about $25, for every cannon ball they would put through it. Under this tempting offer it was hit several times and the scars of the siege still remain. The Moore house, another brick building, in which the terms of the surrender were agreed upon, is also standing, and is situated nearly two miles southwest from the main village. It is now occupied by some of the French guests. The custom house, a little square brick, the oldest custom house in the United States, is near the famous Nelson house, and is now covered. There is no town or hamlet in Wisconsin so forbidding in appearance as Yorktown. There is only one street, and that is extremely narrow, with sand and dust nearly a foot deep. The town is situated upon a level plateau, twelve miles from the Chesapeake bay, and about 150 miles from Washington. On the west and south are abandoned fields, the soil having been poverty-stricken many years ago, and to-day not worth a shilling an acre, and will probably never be touched with the plow. It is upon this ground where the present camp of over 3,000 tents is located, about two miles from the village in a southerly direction, and in the neighborhood of the Moore house. The number of troops on the grounds according to the reports at General Hancock's headquarters, is about 19,000 including the United States regulars. New Jersey sent 800, Pennsylvania 2500 and Michigan 300 beside a delegation of 300 citizens. The Michigan camp contains 103 tents, the Wisconsin camp four. New Jersey gave nothing as a State to pay the expenses of her troops to Yorktown, but the first sergeant of company H, gave $1,000 out of his own pocket, and the first lieutenant of another company paid all the expenses of transportation of his company from Pakenham to Washington. This is the sample of the interest some private individuals in the East have taken in the Yorktown centennial.

The immense field of new tents with its population of 19,000, is one of the interesting scenes at Yorktown, but the fleet in the river is strikingly grand. There are some fifteen large war vessels resting majestically in the broad river directly in front of the town, beside 150 steamboats and other vessels. When those are decorated at night with lights of many colors, each war vessel displaying from 200 to 300 lights, and the other ships and steamers as many in proportion to their size, the scene is one of the most interesting and wonderful ever witnessed upon American waters.

There is one spot of especial interest in Yorktown and very little has been said about it in the newspapers. It is the field on which the surrender was made one hundred years ago to-day. It is about a mile and a half southwest of the village. The readers of the Gazette will probably remember that Cornwallis did not hand his sword in person to Washington. He was sick and humiliated on the 19th of October, 1781, and did not go to the field. He sent his sword by O'Hara, one of his generals, and in the presence of the officers of both armies it was handed to General Lincoln, Washington standing aside a few feet at that impressive moment. Some time before this General Lincoln was unfortunate in being compelled to surrender to General Clinton, and to do that brave officer an act of kindness General Washington tendered him the honor of receiving the sword of Lord Cornwallis. On the very spot where General Lincoln and General O'Hara stood at this time, a marble slab was placed, but during the late war the troops broke it down and hammered it to pieces and made relics out of it. But in its place is a cedar tree about eighteen feet high, and it is worth while for the world to note that under this tree and close to its roots are two graves. One is sadly marked, as many thousands of others have been, "Unknown" while the headstone of the other has the name of "W. Owens, United States colored infantry." So on that historic spot, on which was enacted the last scene of the revolution, is the last resting place of a colored soldier, who fell in defense of the Union, against the assaults of Virginia. There is about an acre of the surrender field enclosed by a brick wall four feet high and within the wall is consecrated ground, the government having set it apart as a National cemetery, in which 3,000 Union soldiers are laid at rest.

The most interesting and touching thing so far connected with the Yorktown centennial, was the order read to-day by Secretary Blaine, just after Winthrop's oration, ordering the British flag saluted by the forces of the army and navy of the United States. As a piece of grand national acting nothing like it was ever witnessed. It came unexpectedly, and when Mr. Blaine finished the reading of the order there came from that vast multitude an outburst of applause as hearty and vociferous as was ever heard on the continent. It seemed to strike every one who heard it as being a masterpiece of graceful acting. It was prepared by Mr. Blaine, and it is said, was first suggested to the President by him. However this may be, it was a noble and gracious act in honor of a noble Queen, and was the crowning glory of the Yorktown centennial. N. S.

Vatican Condemnation of the League Manifesto Desired by English Catholics.

LONDON, October 21.—Great pressure is being exerted by English and Irish Catholics to obtain a strong and clear condemnation of the Land League manifesto from the Pope. It is believed that Cardinal Jacobini, the Papal Secretary of State, has already informed inquirers that the Pope is sorely afflicted by the conduct of a portion of the Irish clergy, but can only interfere to a certain degree in questions which more especially concern the local ecclesiastical authorities.

Extra precautions have been taken at Liverpool to prevent strangers from boarding the steamers of the American lines.

The Dublin correspondents say the Land League officials were seized with a panic when the proclamation against the league became known. It is believed the governments intend to make no arrests of the members of the league in England. It is all over with the leaguers. The greatest consternation prevails among those directly or indirectly associated with the league.

One hundred thousand copies of the United Ireland, the League organ have been distributed throughout the country with a view to an atrocious character, representing the government and the Premier practicing every form of brutality.

In consequence of the proclamation against the Land League, the Freeman's Journal publishes an advertisement from the league advising the people, while remaining firm, to abandon for the present all projected meetings which the government could take advantage of.

DUBLIN, Oct. 21.—Visits to Parnell, O'Kelly, Dillon, Sexton, Brennan, and Kettle have been prohibited for one week. Parnell will be removed to a country prison.

The United Ireland, the organ of the Land League, advises the holders of Bank of Ireland notes to demand gold to create a run upon the bank. It is expected that the offices of the paper will be seized.

Two arrests under the coercion act occurred at Longford.

O'Gorman, proprietor of the Imperial Hotel and O'Brien, member of the Carletonville Land League, have been arrested. Despite the government's proclamation against the Land League, the Rev. Harold Hyatt, Parnell's candidate in the recent election in Tyrone, left Belfast this morning to attend the indignation meeting of the Parnell branch. A detective took the same train.

A constable who recently contained powder and the remains of some burnt paper, was found close to the magazine in the Castle of Athlone. Double sentries have been placed around the magazine.

The clergy generally approve Archbishop Croke's letter protesting against the manifesto of the Land League. The Home Manufacturers' Association passed a resolution of sympathy with Parnell and the other imprisoned leaguers.

The Land Commission transacted considerable business to-day.

The Land League offices have been finally closed.

Notices have been posted in the neighborhood of Bogie, County Roscommon, threatening death to tenants who pay rent.

The military and police evicted several of Colonel King Hammon's tenants in Bogie to-day. A mob afterward held an indignation meeting and wrecked property belonging to non-leaguers.

County Dublin has been proclaimed under the arms act.

The Attorney General and law officers advise the suppression of United Ireland the league organ, and The Irishman. The Privy Council have not yet acted upon the advice.

The Land League manifesto of "No rent" created no sensation inside Kilmaham Prison. The wardens have been changed, and a wooden barrier erected to prevent the approach of visitors.

Justice O'Hagan's speech at the opening of the Land Court is well received in the agricultural districts. The Duke of Abercrombie, at a meeting of the magistrates of the County Donegal, censured the government for delaying action against the league.

All meetings of the league Sunday have been prohibited.

F. H. Drake, Esq., Detroit, has recovered from a terrible skin humor, which covered his face and hands, by using Cuticura Resolvent internally and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. This is good news.

Salt Rheum for seventeen years. Helpless for eight years. Unable to walk. Got about on hands and knees. Head, face, neck, arms and legs covered. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago.

MARQUIS OF LORNE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 21.—The Marquis of Lorne, who was to have left this afternoon for England, was suddenly taken ill, and was consequently compelled to postpone his departure. Considerable speculation is prevalent in regard to this proposed trip of the Marquis, and many think he will never return as governor general, but that a new man will be appointed.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—The departure for England of the governor general has been postponed till the arrival of General McDougall, who is expected in two weeks.

"Sellers' Liver Pills" have been the standard remedy for malaria, liver complaint, costiveness, etc., for fifty years.

Kidney Complaint Cured.

B. Turner, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I have been for over a year subject to serious disorder of the kidneys, and I procured your E. T. Foot's Pills, and was relieved before half a bottle was used. I intend to continue, as I feel confident that they will entirely cure me." Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. For sale by A. J. Roberts and Shuler & Co.

FINALE.

The Closing Scene at Yorktown—Saluting the British Flag.

YORKTOWN, Va., October 21.—Yesterday at 5 o'clock, just as the sun was sinking behind the Yorktown bluffs, the British flag was shown on the fore of the Trenton and a gun was fired. Instantly other ships ran up the same colors and guns answered along the line. The echoes, as it were, tossed to and fro between York and Gloucester shores. From the grassy slopes of the old fortifications, and from the distant camps down the river, came answering explosions telling that the army joins the navy in this unusual and graceful act of courtesy toward the mother country. Now the yards are manned and a final salute given the American flag, in which the two French ships join, and so with hearty greeting to Great Britain, against whose arms and fleets America's hostile guns clamored for liberty and independence a hundred years ago, and to Queen Victoria, who was in this time of sorrow won new title to the lasting respect of every American heart, the centennial of the great victory at Yorktown ends.

Mrs. E. W. Ferguson's Steam Dye House, 85 North Main Street, Janesville, Wis. Garments of every description, also Flannels and Laces, dyed, cleaned and finished in superior style. This is the original Steam Dye House, and was established in "the little stone house," in 1854, but has been at the present location No. 85, for several years. Since it was purchased by the present owner there have been many improvements added, and the house is turning out better work now than ever before. We have all the required improvements in machinery. We employ the best workmen. We use only the best dyes; consequently we do good work. Our work don't crack. Samples of our work were on exhibition at the Rock County Fair. Goods sent to us by express or mail will receive prompt attention. Be sure you get the right name and number, as a dye has opened a shop a few doors south of us, on the same street. Address, Mrs. E. W. Ferguson, Janesville, Wis., Box 1405.

O. R. Dahl will take one or two more pupils on violin, guitar, flute or piccolo. He will resume his studies at the College of Music, of Cincinnati, in January, so the time is short for those desiring to avail themselves of his superior, thorough instruction. P. O. Address, Oxfordville, Wis.

Mrs. Day is meeting with excellent success as a teacher of elocution. She comes highly recommended by Prof. Lyman. Those wishing a thorough drill in voice culture will do well to give her a call. Lessons given every Saturday at All Souls parlors.

Mother's! Mother's! Mother's! Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—doping upon it, there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, "operating like magic." It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere 25 cents a bottle. Beware of cheap imitations. Mailed—mon-wed sat 25c.

BIRKBECK.

—Many calls.

—Sidewalks have been greatly improved this season.

—Remember that the Board of Registry meet at the several polling places in the city next Tuesday to finish up their work.

—The members of the Bowler City Rifles and Janesville Guards should bear in mind that their annual inspection will be held next Tuesday evening. Every member should be on hand promptly.

—This morning a sales wagon with a Mr. Jones in charge of it, rolled out of Janesville, loaded with Humber's buxles, and some other specialties, the main object being to push the trade on the buckle.

—Arlington's name is almost as familiar as that of minstrelsy. He and his company are to set everybody to laughing at the Opera house next Tuesday evening. The St. Paul Pioneer Press says of his appearance there: "Billy himself proved to be as funny and witty as of old, and kept the house in a roar, whenever he was on the stage."

—Mr. C. L. Thomas who has been so long and prominently interested in the manufacture of gears, has returned from the east, having sold out his interest in the New York factory, and will center his energies here. He has now a new side gear out of the Thomas gear, which he will now press upon the market both east and west, and which promises to meet with much favor and a ready sale.

—The sale of tickets for the grand Kollogg concert opened at Prentice & Evenson's this morning, and was quite lively. Those who desire to secure their choice of seats should not neglect putting in an early appearance. It is a great musical event in the history of Janesville, and to have such an entertainment brought to this city, which many of our citizens often go miles to hear, presents a rare chance which should be improved by all.

—Last night two young men, Wallace Nash and James Royer, of Magnolia, were returning from the dance at the Janesville grange hall, when in turning the corner at Mr. Barker's, the buggy was tipped over, and both were thrown to the ground, while the horse rushed on until he had made a bad wreck of the buggy. Nash was not injured beyond the sudden shaking up he received, but Royer had his face so badly cut and bruised, as to demand some surgical aid.

—Next Wednesday evening Bartley Campbell's "My Geraldine" is to be given at the Opera house. The promised entertainment is one of high merit, and all its appointments are attractive. The New York News says: "Beyond doubt the romantic drama of 'My Geraldine,' is the most absorbing of Bartley Campbell's stage creations. Its construction is symmetrical, its incidents are impressive and startling, and its story, from first to last, contains all the tragic elements to arouse the sensibilities and excite the imagination."

—Some time before daylight Mr. Martin Halverson was awake, and from the windows of his home noticed two or three fellows hanging about in front of Tallman's laboratory. A little later he noticed a light in the basement, and on inquiry this morning found that it was one of the employees of the establishment, or anyone having a right to be there. It appears that the fellows gained an entrance by a window, and leisurely and boldly looked about for plunder. There was nothing missed this morning, and they probably were disappointed in their hunt for plunder.

—The new hose cart of Water Witch Company No. 2 was rolled out of H. Buchholz's shop to-day, and as it stood on the street attracted the attention and excited the admiration of all passers-by. It is a beauty. The new hose cart of the other company will soon be finished, also. Mr. Buchholz has rebuilt these carts, entirely, except that the old frames are retained, and the work has been done in a very substantial and workmanlike manner. J. B. La Grange has done most excellent painting on the cart just finished, and it is made a credit to the city and to the fire department.

—Janesville may now congratulate itself on having a model music store. W. W. Kimball, of Chicago, having permanently established a branch house here opposite the postoffice, and placed Mr. Bryant in charge of it. The long lease, and the extensive and attractive furnishings show that he means it, when he says he has come to stay. The display of pianos and organs, presents a fine variety of most excellent instruments, and in make, tone, and finish, they certainly merit attention and praise. Mr. Bryant has only put in two months' of work here, and yet he has already sold forty-six instruments, and the trade is rapidly increasing.

Relief in five minutes in every case; gratifying, wholesome relief beyond a money value. Cough begins from first application, and is rapidly radical and permanent. Choking, purulent mucous discharges, membranes cleaned and healed, breath sweetened, smell, taste and hearing restored. Complete treatment for $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure.

Death to rats and vermin, Parson's Exterminator.

PLANTING A POST.

The Valiant Veterans Decide to Join the Grand Army of the Republic.

In accordance with the announced adjournment, another meeting of the soldiers and sailors of the late war was held last evening at the common council chamber, for the purpose of organizing a veterans' association. Mayor S. C. Cobb, presided and R. W. King served as secretary.

The secretary read a letter from Col. Griff J. Thomas, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic of Wisconsin, addressed to Captain H. A. Smith, who was absent from the city. This letter stated many interesting details concerning the Grand Army of the Republic, and urged the Janesville veterans to establish a post here. The organization dates back to 1865, when it was first formed in Indianapolis. The letter presented the fact that for the year ending June 1, 1891, the order had gained in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New Hampshire, and Illinois, from 51 to 58 per cent; in Ohio 72 per cent; in Michigan 97 per cent; in Wisconsin 100 per cent; in Minnesota 156, and in Nebraska 174 per cent. There were now thirty states represented in the organization by a membership of 75,000.

Henry P. Fischer, of Milwaukee, the chief mustering officer for the State, was present and made some remarks favorable to the organization, and gave further facts concerning the manner of organizing.

On motion of T. T. Croft it was formally decided to organize a post of the Grand Army of the Republic, and following who were present signed the roll, and were mustered in by Mr. Fischer: H. W. Perigo, Company H, 1st New York Engineers; A. M. Pratt, Company B, 3d Wisconsin Cavalry; J. D. Traub, Company F, 8th Wisconsin Infantry; A. E. Lee, Company D, 3d Wisconsin Infantry; Charles M. Riker, Company G, 8th Wisconsin Infantry; M. G. Hall, Company F, 3d Wisconsin Cavalry; John W. Bolton, Company M, 2d Wisconsin Cavalry; J. C. Metcalf, Company M, 2d Wisconsin Cavalry; J. H. Bliss, Company F, 13th Wisconsin Infantry; C. J. Scholtz, Company D, 12th Illinois Infantry; Ed. Murphy, Company L, 8th Illinois Cavalry; R. W. King, Company E, 22d Wisconsin Infantry; B. H. Hill, Company E, 22d Wisconsin Infantry; Clark Popple, Company M, 2d Wisconsin Cavalry; John Andrews, Company F, 8th Wisconsin Infantry; J. C. Conger, Company B, 1st Wisconsin Infantry; Charles Horn, Company B, 1st Heavy Artillery; W. B. Britton, 5th Wisconsin Infantry; W. M. Burrell, Company D, 2d New York Engineers; T. T. Croft, 12th Wisconsin Battery; E. G. Harlow, 12th Wisconsin Battery; P. S. Fenton, Company G, 10th Illinois Infantry; J. Bly, Company F, 18th Wisconsin Infantry; E. Barry, Company I, 23d Wisconsin Infantry; R. H. Stone, Company B, 37th Wisconsin Infantry; Christian Yager, Company A, 18th Wisconsin Infantry; M. Griffin, Company E, 8th New York Infantry; J. A. Spencer, Company D, 16th Kansas Cavalry; G. Sisson, 12th Wisconsin Battery; John Lawler, 4th Wisconsin Battery; G. W. Smith, 4th Wisconsin Battery; A. C. Downing, Company A, 16th Wisconsin Infantry; Jerome Howland, 12th Wisconsin Battery; W. C. C. Cobb, Company H, 13th Wisconsin Infantry; S. T. Beaton, Company H, 3d Wisconsin Cavalry; J. M. Putnam, United States Cavalry; R. M. Weaver, Company A, 18th Wisconsin Infantry.

The names of Dr. Henry Palmer, Capt. H. A. Smith and Dr. S. L. Lord, were also added to the roll, they being known to be favorable to the movement, and being unable to be present.

On motion of Captain S. J. M. Putnam it was decided to meet at the same place on the evening of the 29th for the election and installation of officers, and adjournment was had until then.
